After consulting some of the Senior Educational Officers and Dr. Smeeth and Dr. Srinivasa Rao regarding the subjects relating to them I am of opinion that no change can be introduced for the present in the general scheme of the subjects of the examination. The B.A. Examination under the New Regulations of the Madras University will be held for the first time in 1913, but there will also be an examination under the Old Regulations, side by side, in 1913 and 1914. It is only from 1915 that the New Regulations will be solely in force. For the Competitive Examination to be held in 1915, we may expect a number of graduate-applicants who have passed the B.A. either under the Old or New Regulations, but for the examination of this year, there will be none under the

New Regulations, for the reason that the applications from candidates should, as stated in draft rule 3, reach the Secretariat on or before the 31st March next, while the first B.A.Examination under the New Regulations will commence in the first week of April following.

Regarding the addition of Political Economy, Public Administration, Public Finance etc, I would for this year omit them altogether. If however, Government wish to have any of them, I would propose as Compulsory Group C, the following:- Government and Administration of India (C.P.Ilbert's Government of India and Sir John Strachey's India, its Administration and Progress, recommended). A three-hour paper may be set on this subject with 100 marks. In this case reading as per paper may be adopted. Otherwise I may be taken II

I think that the dates fixed for the examination in November next are quite suitable.

Yours sincerely,

T. Sadasiva Rao
